A Worth While Market

Second Annual St. Joseph Stocker and Feeder Show to be Held at This Market, Sept. 28-29

The live stock market, with packing houses, stock yards and Exchange building located at South St. Joseph, a suburb of the city on the south side, is an institution of which every citizen of St. Joseph and the surrounding country may be proud.

It is a market worth while and a great help to the business of St. Joseph, "The City Worth While." The men who conduct the business of this market have put it in the front ranks of live stock markets and have made it a credit to the city from which it takes its name.

While not one of the oldest live stock markets, this is one of the best markets of this country. In the live stock and packing industry, St. Joseph can point with pride to the exceptional total of $80,000,000.00 it enjoys yearly. The payroll of the Stock Yards' interests exceeds $3,000,000.00 annually, more than $250,000.00 per month.

The enterprise of the officers of the St. Joseph Stock Yards Company and the live stock commission firms doing business on that market was shown by taking the lead last year in putting on a stocker and feeder show, offering liberal prizes and other inducements to cattlemen to exhibit. It was a pronounced success, so much that other markets are beginning to follow suit.

The St. Joseph Stocker and Feeder Show this year will be a great success. With details of arrangements perfected, this second show will probably be enjoyed by stockmen even more than was the first, last year. Premiums amounting to $2,000 will be offered for Hereford, Shorthorn, Angus and Galloway cattle. Besides that, there will, no doubt, be plenty of buyers present to take the cattle exhibited, paying topnotch prices for all, those that do not capture prizes as well as those that do.

Some of the live stock commission firms at South St. Joseph, where the stock yards are located, are extending a cordial invitation thru the advertising columns of The Nebraska Stockman, to the ranchmen of Nebraska to ship to them and will give particular attention to any business so entrusted to them. We wish to call special attention to the live stock commission firms advertising in this paper.

BAYARD EXPECTS FACTORY

Developing Sugar Industry Means More Cattle and Sheep Feeding

The enterprising little town of Bayard, in the west part of Morrill county, is all worked up over the prospect of securing a sugar factory. The development of the beet sugar industry and the growing of sugar beets and alfalfa in the North Platte valley is of particular interest to ranchmen because of the bearing on cattle and sheep feeding, not enough yet to make any material difference to Nebraska cattlemen, but it may be in the course of time, and possible not many years at that.

The North Platte valley, including the adjacent irrigable flats, is coming to be recognized as the best sugar beet district in the United States, and it will not take long to develop the industry on an immense scale, once the proper interests get back of it, as they are doing now. The following item was sent to the daily press from Bayard, under date of July 20:

Great interest is being taken in this vicinity in the assurance that the Great Western Sugar Co. has practically decided upon the erection of a large sugar factory in Bayard, one of the most progressive cities of western Nebraska.

The development of the sugar beet industry in this section is keeping pace with the development of lands available, and this now amounts to about 50,000 acres. With the advent of the new factory, this figure is expected to be largely magnified, as the soil here is specially adapted to sugar beet culture.

Bayard is well prepared for the increase in population which the factory would mean. She is already installing a modern system of water works, and is negotiating for electric lights, while sewerage and drainage systems are being considered.

One More Bag to Bust

A public school teacher once put this question to her pupils:

"Which would you rather have—three bags with two apples in each bag, or two bags with three apples in each bag?"

"Three bags with two apples in each bag," was the surprising answer given by one lad, while the rest of the class was struggling with the problem.

"Why, Harry?"

"Because there'd be one more bog to bu'st!"—Exchange.
